I am Sam,
Passionate about technologies and how to shape them.

After a few years honing various skills in social-oriented jobs, I decided to finally give in and follow my dream of pursuing a career in what has fascinated me since my early years.

With my addition to a team will come organisation, communication and versatility. Add to that my eagerness to always learn and master whatever new knowledge is thrown at me, and you have a new associate that blends and becomes one with the team.
